Bounthy's Singing Bird

۲

Author: Sinthanou Sidavone Illustrator: Nivong Sengsakoun \mathbf{A}

Bounthy's home is near the forest. There are birds all around that sing beautiful songs. "Coo-oo, coo-oo," sing the birds.

۲

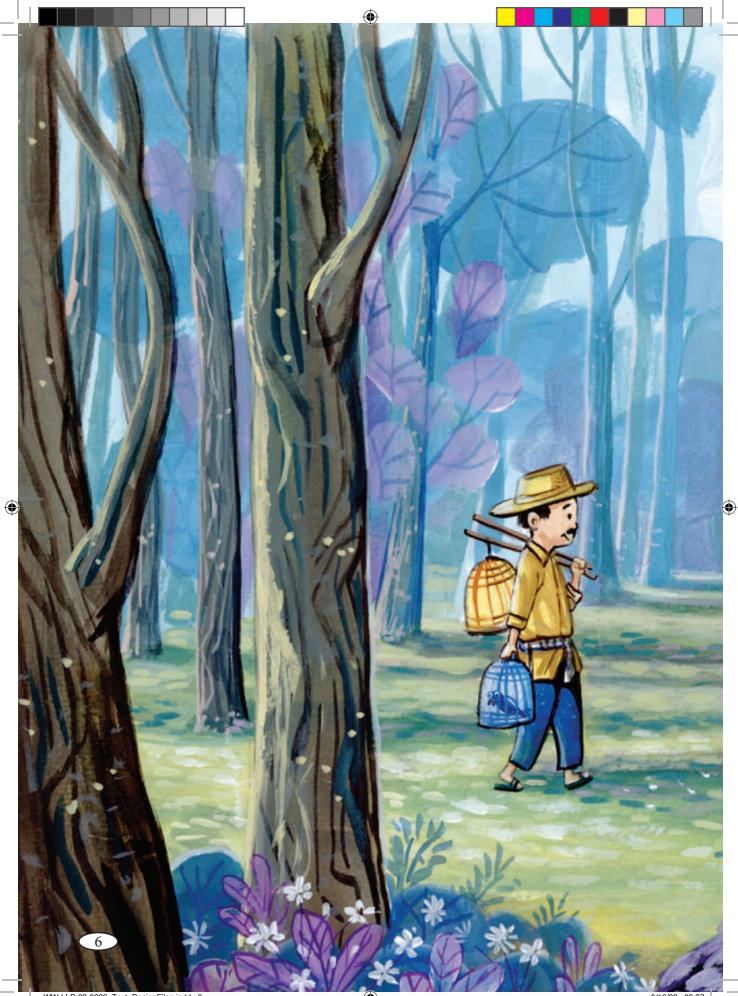

Bounthy sits and listens to the birds sing with joy.

۲

5

۲

Every day, his father takes one bird to the forest to help catch other birds.

۲

۲

He catches the birds one by one and brings them all home.

۲

Bounthy's home is filled with birds. But after some time, instead of singing, they sigh sadly.

۲

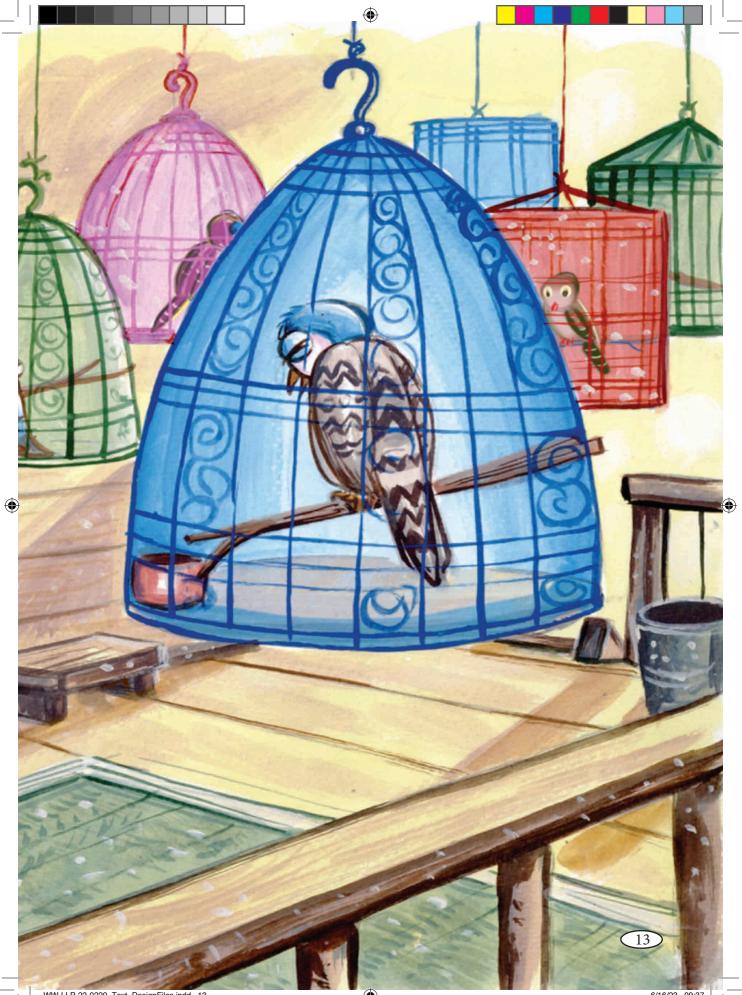

One day, Bounthy wakes up to see that none of his birds is singing.

۲

12

 \odot

He tries to find ways to make them happy and sing again.

۲

He feeds them rice, but they don't eat any of it.

(15

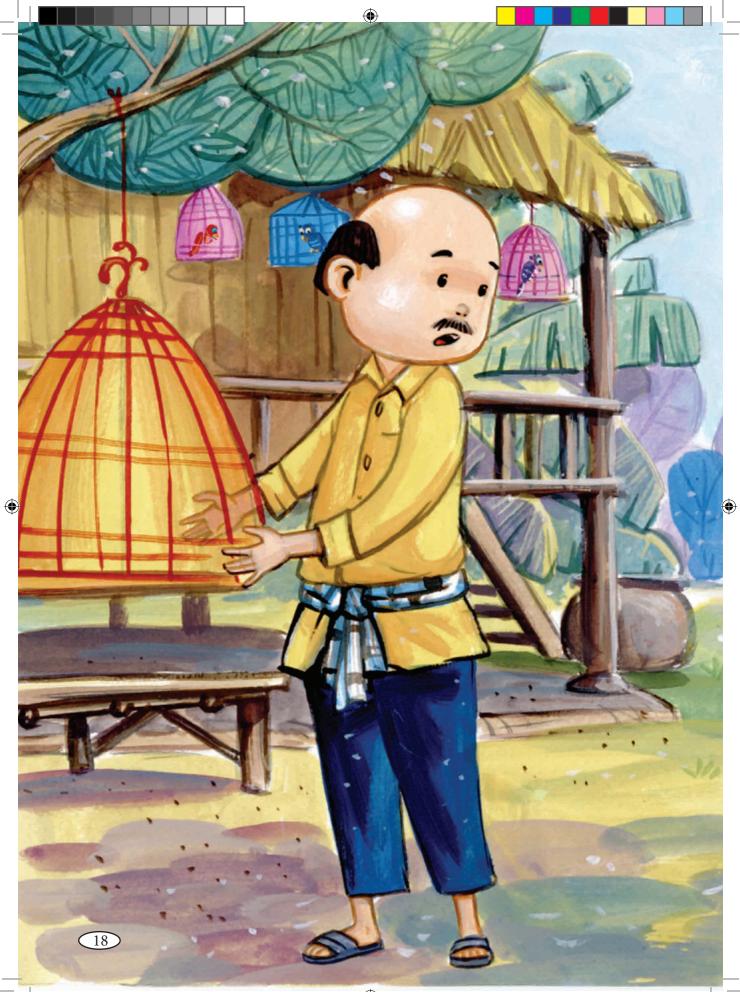

"What happened to you, my birds?" he asks them. "Do you want to go back to the forest?"

۲

16

۲

Bounthy decides to talk to his father.

۲

۲

19

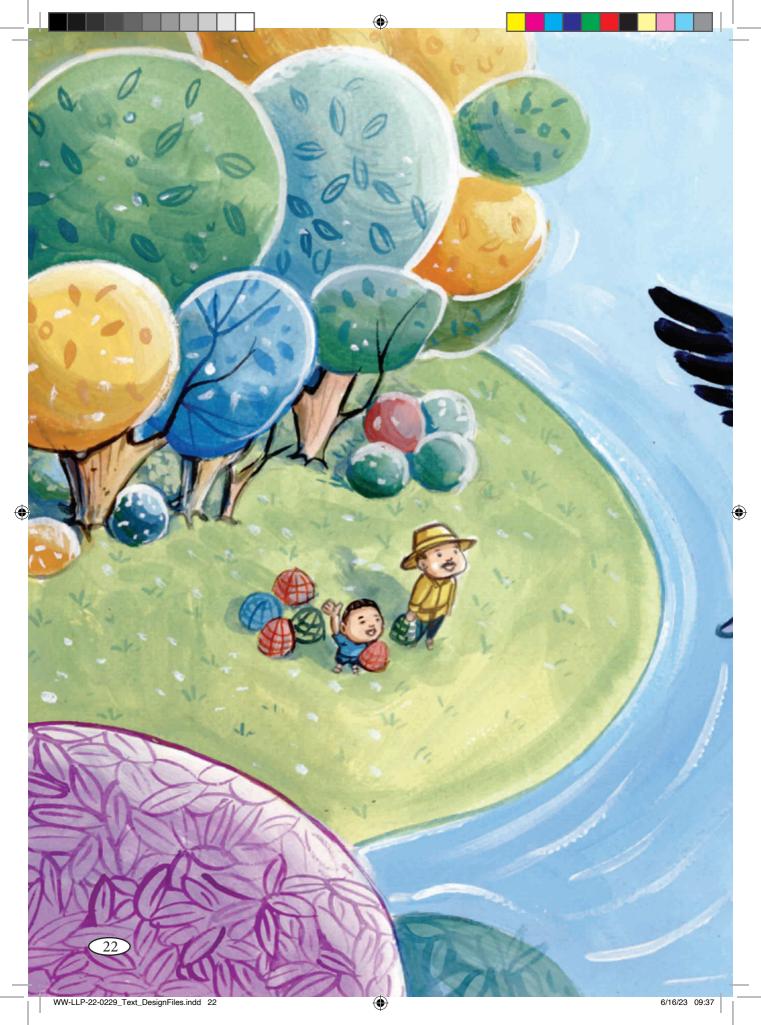

۲

Bounthy and his father take the birds back to the forest and set them free.

۲

۲

As the birds fly away, they look back at Bounthy with a smile.

۲

 $(\bullet$

The next morning, Bounthy hears all of the birds singing happily in a tree next to his home. "Coo-oo! Coo-oooo!"

(24)