

A Day at the Festival

Author: Syamphay Fengsavanh
Illustrator: Nivong Sengsakoun

It's carnival day.

“Hooray!”
shouts Little Mouse.

“Hooray!”
shouts Littler Mouse.

“Hooray!”
shouts Tiny Mouse.

They plan to ride every ride!

“But don’t lose me!”
Tiny Mouse tells his brothers.

They race each other in bumper cars.

They go up and down on the merry-go-round.

They ride the winding caterpillar roller coaster.

They take a spin on the Ferris wheel.

The brothers walk to the balloon cart . . .

and they each buy a balloon.
One balloon, two balloons . . .

“Wait, where is Tiny Mouse?”

Little Mouse and Littler Mouse run to the bumper cars. Tiny Mouse isn't there.

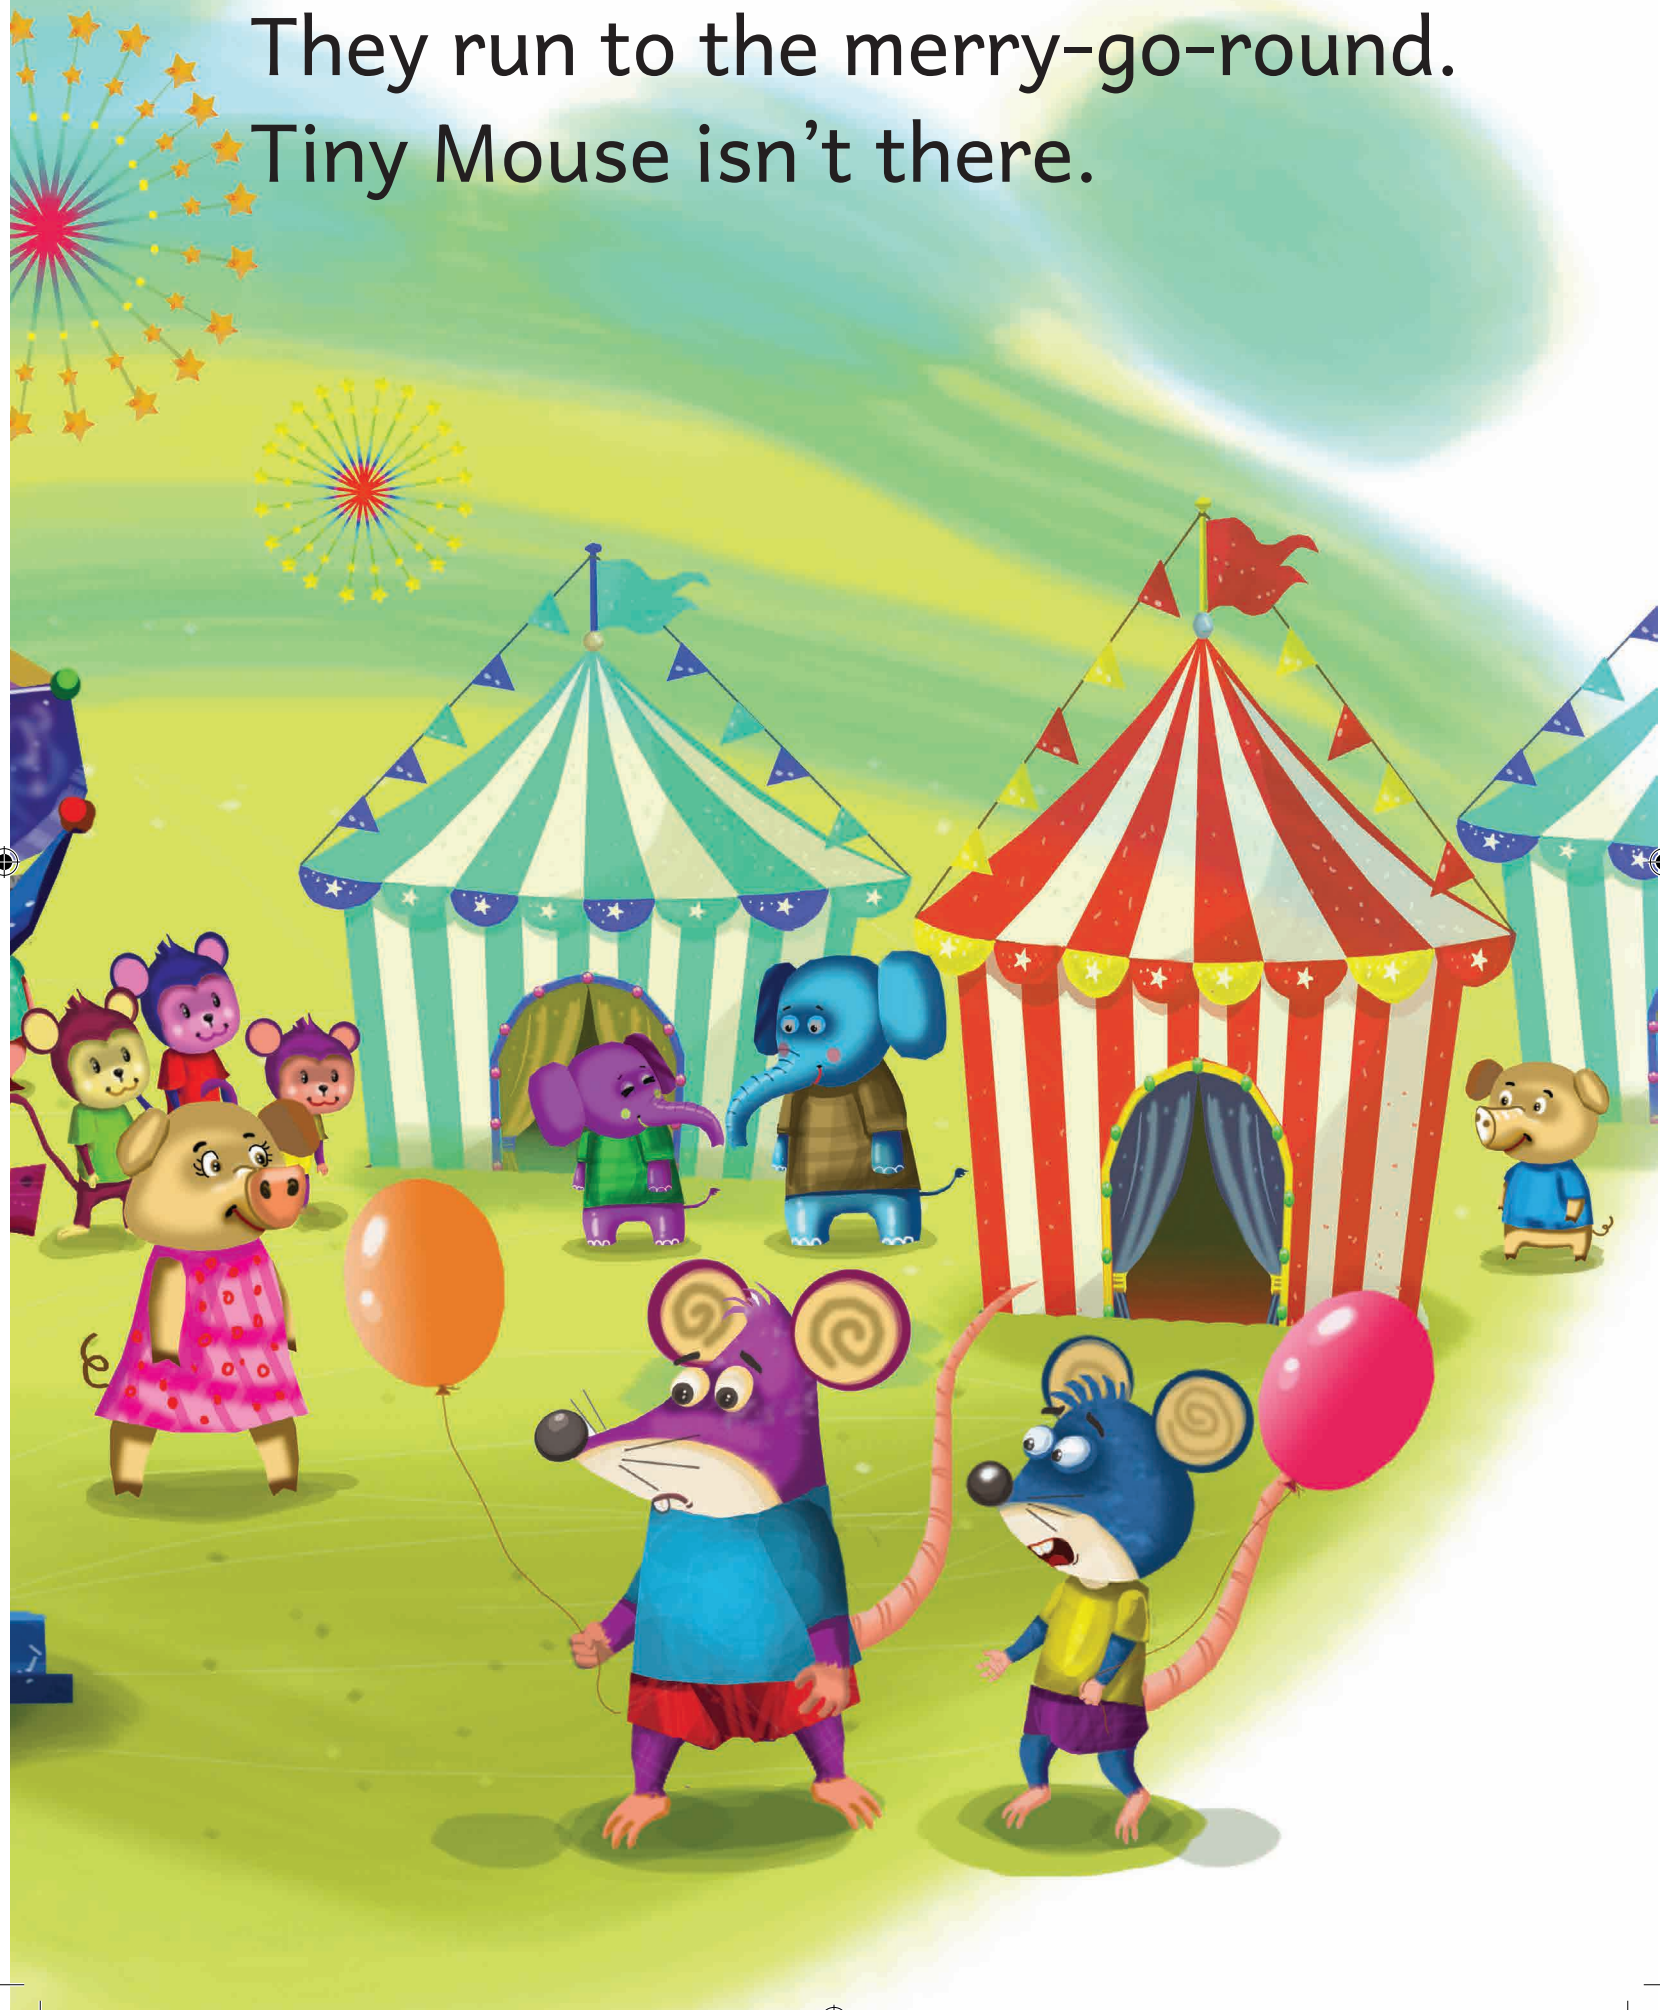

They run to the merry-go-round.
Tiny Mouse isn't there.

They run to the caterpillar roller coaster. Tiny Mouse isn't there either.

They run to the Ferris wheel.
Thank goodness! There is Tiny Mouse!

The three mice each buy a glass of sugarcane juice.

One glass,

two glasses,

three glasses!

What a fantastic day at the carnival.
Hooray, Hooray, Hooray!

